

An English Education, the very best for your child

Of course, as a caring and responsible parent, you want the very best for your child. What better start in life than an English education?

An English education will open doors to a happy and successful future for your child. Angela's School is the first step on their path to happiness and success.

We will prepare your child for entry to

- International schools on the Costa del Sol
- International schools throughout Europe, Asia and Africa
- Private day schools in the UK
- Top UK boarding schools
- American schools and colleges

Long-established English learning centre

Angela's School has over 20 years experience in preparing children for entry to English and international schools. Our professional team of native English teachers will prepare your child academically, emotionally and socially for life in English or international school.

We will tutor your child in a small group environment, individually, or both, according to their needs and your requirements. We will educate your child in English culture and customs, and the behaviour which will be expected of them in English and international school.

They will enter their chosen school with increased confidence and will achieve greater success.

Fast Track to Success

We will work with your child to prepare them for their chosen school in the shortest possible time.

Our tried and tested intensive teaching methods prioritize your child's individual learning needs, rather than just incorporating them into group teaching. This means that your child can work at their own pace and fast-track their way to success in English.

We can help your child start speaking and writing English from the very first day.

Using our fast-track method, your child could be ready for international school in just one month, and for English boarding school in just one term!

And, don't forget, we can arrange for your child to sit entrance exams at our venue. And many top schools in the UK and Europe now conduct Skype interviews, so your child may not even have to leave the country to gain their place at a top school.

A message from our Founder

"Studying at Angela's School gives your child the most positive educational experience possible. The long term benefits to your child of starting out in a new country with dedicated professionals are incalculable. We prepare our students for entry into their new schools so carefully that the early psychological push we give them lasts well into their university years.

It fills me with pride to see how well our ex-students have done. Many come back years later – even into adulthood and I feel very fortunate to have played a part in their success."

Traditional discipline

Students achieve greater success and happiness when they are focused on their studies. We guide our students on the manners and correct habits that they should adopt to integrate fully into their chosen school. We actively discourage disruptive, lazy and impolite behaviour. We applaud good manners, effort and success.

Open all year

Angela's School is open throughout the year including school holidays. Our summer classes are extremely popular, with many families booking a year in advance to be sure of a place for their child. If you would like your child to study at Angela's School in summer 2013, please book now.

Ongoing support

We never forget the students who have studied with us, and we hope they will never forget us! Many of our students return to us for on-going support and improvement.

We are always proud to see so many of our ex-students at the top of their school Roll of Honour and receiving awards and prizes. We celebrate the success of our ex-students with them and we help them continue on their path to academic excellence with private tutoring, small group classes, after-school, weekend and holiday support and, most importantly, lots of praise and encouragement.

Exams Invigilation Service

We can arrange visits and interviews for schools in England and the rest of the UK. Your child may even be able to take their school entrance exams with us using our Exams Invigilation Service. To start your child's English education, contact us today.

Administration Service

We can help when visas are required for school visits, interviews or residence. Contact us for more information about our personalized administration service.

Interview Preparation

We will prepare your child for their face-to-face or Skype interview by extensive questioning practice and role play.

Your child will be more confident and relaxed when they attend their school interview.

After her son's face-to-face interview at a top UK boarding school Mrs L.S. said, "I am delighted to report that my son has been accepted into the school - the acceptance letter made particular reference to how well he had performed at the interview, so thank you both very much!"

Egor (16) had a Skype interview with a leading boy's college in the USA. He said, "I am so happy - it went really well. I felt very well-prepared and quite calm, so I was able to cope with the more tricky questions with no problems."

Miss Angela

Every one of Miss Angela's students is enriched by her warm personality, her total commitment to education, and her belief in the development of their full potential. "Teaching is my life and I remember fondly every student I have ever taught."

Miss Clare

Miss Clare is passionate about creating a nurturing environment which motivates learners to fulfil their potential. She encourages and supports students to achieve personal happiness and academic success. Students are highly motivated, confident, well-rounded and successful.

(*Names may have been changed.)

Anastasia (8) attended an international school in Spain, but due to language difficulties and dyslexia, she was put in a class two years below her chronological age. She came to Angela's School for a combination of small group classes and individual learning support to help her overcome her difficulties. She has now moved to a top international school and consistently attains merit awards. Her next goal is to transfer to a UK boarding school, which will also develop her outstanding musical and artistic gifts.

Vladimir (13) attended a private Spanish school, then a private German school before coming to us for tutoring to gain a sought-after place in a popular international school on the coast. He is currently studying to take his IGCSE's (English school-leaving exams) and is predicted to get all A grades. He will go to a top American college to complete his academic education and further develop his amazing sports skills.

Olga (8) attended our Saturday Support classes for 2 years before embarking on an intensive preparation programme for entry to the top English boarding school for girls.

Kirril (12) arrived from international school in Moscow working at a year below his chronological age. A combination of Morning School and individual tutoring helped him to gain a place in a top international school the area, where he consistently appeared on the Roll of Honour. He is now currently studying at a top English boarding school where he continues to achieve excellent results.

Misha (6) came to us with three words in English: "hello", "red" and "blue". He studied at our Morning School in a small group for 3 months before entering his chosen international school in Marbella. One school year later, he was top of his class and a very happy student.

The Russian advantage

Many Russian parents book summer places for their children to start with us as soon as the Russian schools close at the end of May. Russian students have an advantage because they are able to study with us for a month longer than most other nationalities, whose schools close at the end of June. Thereby, Russian students are better placed to achieve success in the September school entrance exams.

Irina Panushkina

High-flying Irina started her international academic career at Angela's School where she prepared to enter the IGCSE programme at a prestigious international school in Spain. During her initial years of study she continued to receive regular tutorial support from Angela's School, going on to gain 10 top-grade IGCSE's.

By the time she entered the IB programme she was a confident and independent learner, gaining 36 IB points with A* in the Extended and Theory of Knowledge Essays. But she always knew that she could rely on Angela's School for any support she needed. A successful university career followed and Irina gained the second best overall grade in her 4-year degree programme in Madrid.

Irina is currently enjoying a successful career as the in-house lawyer for a major mining company in Moscow, where she is a consultant on international and UK contract law. Angela's School is very proud of Irina's achievements and is privileged to have been at her side along her path to success.
